Discover ARDMS

ARDMS administers examinations and awards credentials in the areas of ultrasound and is considered the global standard of excellence in sonography. Our mission is to empower sonographers to provide exceptional patient care through rigorous assessments and continual learning. Since 1975, ARDMS has provided patients, healthcare professionals, employers and medical facilities the assurance that ARDMS-certified sonography professionals meet rigorous criteria in both knowledge and expertise in sonography. ARDMS is accredited by ANSHSO 17024 and has awarded credentials to nearly 96,000 medical professionals worldwide and is the globally recognized standard of excellence in the field of sonography certification.

In 2016, ARDMS introduced a new umbrella management and governance company, Inteleos™ and a new physician-centric certification council the Alliance for Physician Certification & Advancement™.
